

WOUND MANAGEMENT CONTRACT PRODUCT BROCHURE

2017

FOREWORD

This brochure has been put together as a visual aid to assist clinicians and buyers in identifying those brands awarded on the All Wales Wound Management contract. Its contents are not considered commercially confidentially (unlike most other contract documents) so it can be more widely distributed.

The brochure includes all items available via the contract but local policy may dictate additional approvals that are required for the use of certain dressings or may rationalise the number of dressing options available. The brochure is not intended to supersede or otherwise conflict with local formularies and Health Board protocols and procedures in relation to the use of specific dressings should always be followed.

In addition, as the brochure covers only those lines available via the Wound Management contract, it does not include other categories of associated items that may be present on other All Wales contracts. Further information on other associated contracts can be sought from NWSSP Procurement Services using the contact details in this brochure if required.

NWSSP Procurement Services seeks to continually improve the resources provided to its customers and would welcome any feedback with regards to this brochure.

All images within the brochure are used by the kind permission of our contracted suppliers and may not be used for other purposes without their express permission.

Medical Device Defect Reporting Procedure

Complaints referring to the quality of medical products should be forwarded by the customer to the Surgical & Materials Testing Laboratory (SMTL) who are responsible for investigating defective products within NHS Wales.

In general, SMTL will investigate any medical disposable device purchased for use in the Welsh NHS. Examples are given in Appendix C1. If the device you are interested in is not included below, please contact the lab to find out whether SMTL can help.

The Procedure:

1. The user completes a SMTL Medical Device Defect Reporting Form (See Appendix C2)
A copy of this form can be obtained from the SMTL website

<http://www.smtl.co.uk/nhs-services/51-defectincident-investigation/144-defect-reporting.html>

2. The completed form and where possible, the defective product in question is forwarded to the Local Health Boards/Trusts Defect Reporting officer (DRO). A list of the Local Health Board/Trusts DRO can be found in Appendix C3.
3. The DRO forwards the complaint form and any samples to SMTL for investigation and testing (where appropriate).

For information and advice regarding the sending of contaminated medical devices to SMTL, please refer to the following document Postage of contaminated medical devices which is available via the SMTL website via the above link.

4. Following investigation and testing (if required) SMTL will produce a Report regarding its findings which will be forward to the Supplier/Manufacture for the comments and response.
5. A copy of the SMTL Report will also be forwarded to:
 - i. the Relevant Health Board/Trusts DRO and complainant along with the Suppliers/Manufactures response (when received).

The Reporting Officer acts as the coordinating contact between your Health Board/Trust and SMTL Please contact SMTL on the number in the box opposite if you have any questions or queries about defect reporting.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION - PLEASE READ

Please obtain a copy of MDA/2004/054(Wales) for complete information on reporting defects.
Also see <http://www.wales.nhs.uk/sites3/page.cfm?orgid=465&pid=56203>

Who is the User, and who is the Reporter?

The USER will be the clinician actually using the device when the incident happened.

The REPORTER may be the user if they are filling in the form themselves, in which case these boxes may be left blank, or it may be a different person, filling in the form on behalf of the user.

Reporting Officer

Your reporting officer will typically be based in your procurement or Risk/clinical governance department, depending on local policy. If you are unsure who your local reporting officer is, SMTL will be able to tell you who to contact within your Health Board.

Reporting Officer Reference No

Please ensure you enter a unique identifier in this box, which will ensure traceability for SMTL and the Health Board/Trust.

Sample Submission

1. Please try to send us the defective device. If possible it should be decontaminated in line with our instructions below.
2. Where practical, please also send unused samples from the same batch of product, to enable us to compare products.

Decontamination Instructions

1. If the device is not contaminated, then post to SMTL with this reporting form and a decontamination certificate stating 'Not Contaminated'.
2. If the device is contaminated and can be decontaminated locally, decontaminate the device using a combination of pre-cleaning with detergent/enzyme followed by cold sterilant (for example, Perisafe, Cidex - seek advice locally from health and safety advisor or other appropriate personnel), package appropriately and post to SMTL with this reporting form and a completed decontamination certificate.

3. If the device is contaminated and it is not possible for the device to be decontaminated locally (or there are concerns that decontamination could destroy important evidence) follow one of the 4 options below:
 - a) Package appropriately and organise transfer of the package to SMTL via the hospital transport system (contact hotel services, post room or pharmacies for more details about local hospital transport arrangements).
 - b) Package appropriately and pass on to a member of SMTL staff during a meeting (SMTL staff attend regular meetings with other NHS staff throughout Wales and devices could be passed on during these occasions).
 - c) Package appropriately and send to SMTL via UN approved courier.
 - d) Label item, place in quarantine and contact SMTL for advice regarding transportation.

For further information and details on the sending of defective and contaminated devices to SMTL, SMTL have produced a document Postage of contaminated medical devices which evaluates the various options open to Welsh NHS staff when they have a defective device they wish to send to SMTL.
